

AWARD WINNERS

Best Ophthalmic Surgery Film

Dr Alexandra Manta

Tendon sparing lower Eyelid elevation for combined reconstructive and aesthetic outcomes

Best Non-Surgical Film

Dr Chuen Yen Hong

A portable robotic eye-testing device

Gerard Crock Award for the Best Paper Presentation by a RANZCO Fellow or Scientist

Dr Carla J Abbott

Genome-wide association study of the genetic risk of reticular pseudodrusen in age-related macular degeneration

John Parr Award for the Best Paper Presentation by a Trainee

Mr Minsu Jung

Predictors of success in phacoemulsification combined with iStent inject surgery in 1550 eyes

Best Poster

Dr Maria Cabrera-Aguas (presented by Prof Stephanie Watson)

The Bacterial Ocular Surveillance System (BOSS): preliminary results from the 2019-2024 national report

Travel Grant Awards:

Dr Rachna Agarwal (India)

Efficacy and Safety of Weekly EUGOGO protocol vs 3 Weekly low dose Intravenous Methylprednisolone in Thyroid Eye Disease

Dr James Convill (United Kingdom)

The developmental impact of ultra-low dose intra-vitreous bevacizumab on infants with retinopathy of prematurity at two years of age

Dr Grace Setiawan (Indonesia)

Triple-Pump Vs Quattro Pump Phacoemulsification System: A Comparative Analysis on Endothelial Cell Safety and Efficacy

The Sarks Macular Degeneration Research Foundation.

The Sarks Foundation was established by Drs Shirley and John Sarks, pioneers in ophthalmology and translational research. Their clinicopathological studies transformed how we understand age related macular degeneration.

The Foundation carries their legacy forward by fostering research, education, and collaboration — and by inspiring the next generation of clinicians to use histology as a bridge to clinical discovery.

The Shirley & John Sarks Prize celebrates excellence in clinicopathological correlation in retinal disease.

Mr Anthony Barrett

The Lifecycle of Soft Drusen: Clinicopathological Correlates and Imaging Implications in Age-related Macular Degeneration

RANZCO Sustainability Prize

Sheng Chiong Hong